You have no fallout 4 ini file

Posted on 10 July 2019 – 1:15 pm After noticing a slow but confident decline in my gaming experience I decided to do a clean install of Fallout 4. On the first time you started the game to create .ini files I received a notification that Fallout 4 does not recognize my graphics card and all settings are returned to low quality. I accepted that and continue with the parameter settings on Ultra and leave the game launcher. When I opened the newly created .ini files, I found Fallout4.ini literally invalid data except for this one item: [Display] sD3DDevice = NVIDIA GeForce RTX 2080 Ti In the same directory (Documents\My Games\Fallout 4) Fallout4Prefs.ini contained the settings I chose during the initial setup procedure. However, in the game directory (C:\Games\Steam...\Fallout4\Fallout4 I found another Fallout4Prefs.ini file created a few minutes after the .ini file in the My Games directory with low quality settings: for example: Fallout4Prefs. ini in the My Games directory: [Display] ... iShadowMapResolution=4096 iDirShadowSplits=2 uiShadowFilter=3 uiOrthoShadowFilter=3 iAdapter=0 iSize W =2560 iSize H=1440 bFull Screen=1 bBorderless=1 Fallout4Prefs.ini in Fallout4\Fallout4 Directory: [Display] ... iShadowMapResolution=2048 iDirShadowSplits=3 uiOrthoShadowFilter=2 uiShadowFilter=2 bBorderless=1 bFull Screen=0 iSize H=720 iSize W=1280 and many more... My questions are: 1. How to fill Fallout4. ini file with the correct parameters? 2. Why two different Fallout4Prefs.ini files? I'm not sure which one uses the game. Should I even worry about that? Any help in this matter will be greatly appreciated. Hi guys, I have a little if the problem that had to reinstall the computer, I of course reinstalled my games, and want to reinstall mods as well ... so I start Fallout 4 to create an INI file, I close the game, check if the file is there, that is, good ... so I run nmm and scan for my games, check if he found the fallout.4th. has, good ... but when I choose the fallout 4 install mods ... it says you don't have a Fallout 4 INI file. Please fun Fallout 4 initialize the file before installing mods or turning archive invalid ... I'm going what f and I would like some help in finding out what is wrong If you have never started FO4 using Steam launcher, can not create the desired file ini. That ini is created when you first start and needs a steam update to work properly. After you start the game once through the steam launcher to save and ini will be added. Then he should be able to find it right. After this one, you can use whatever trigger you prefer to start the game. I also had this problem. The only thing that fixed it was uninstalling the new version and re-installing the previous one. The new one can't find fallout4.ini at all. I tried every combination you can think of (run as admin, uninstall / reinstall FO4, install as admin, etc etc.) and only does not detect that this file exists. Installed the previous version and it worked no problems when I first ran. NMM does not create or delete the Fallout4.ini file. This is done Beth / Steam install a routine that creates ini the first time you start the game (you have to run using Steam launcher for the first time to create ini) If it is there, NMM will show it. If it doesn't, it can't. My guess is that you are using a different installation path for the new version. I saw the same thing on the new installation. But I followed the bben46 instructions loaded clean save, and then created a new save and it works now. edited by Grammer Edited by bigfella67, 16 April 2016 - 05:00 PM. I got the same thing until I did Fallout4Custom.ini. Then it worked. I got the same thing until I did Fallout4Custom.ini. Then it worked. Thanks for the feedback! The error message appears to be misleading. It says you don't have a Fallout 4 INI file when you should say you don't have a Fallout4Custom.ini file. I too struggled with it until I found this post. Creating a blank Fallout4Custom.ini file solved the problem. You may want to correct that in the next NMM update, or change the error message to provide more accurate information. Just had the same problem and creating this file fixed the problem the same. I just finished a clean install of Windows 10 and copied my steam partition; and for some reason Fallou4 does not create fallout4custom.ini April 18, - Unfortunately, no change. I still apparently don't have a Fallout4 ini file and should run Fallout 4 to begin with. Microsoft likes to change where things are stored with each version of Windows (One of my fac stuff avout Microsoft/sarcasim), Have NMM find the fallout 4 directories again I did as soon as I started NMM for the first time. April 18, - I found a solution. Create a file in documents\My Games\Fallout Folder 4 with name and paste it into the folder [Display] iLocation X=0 iLocation y=0 [Archive] bInvalidateOlderFiles=1 sResourceDataDirFinal= Save file. Problem solved. That's exactly it. You do not need to upload this file. Home Discussion Workshop Market Broadcasts.Change language. Unhelpful as I run Fallout 4 and it persists, but since when are the instructions of these types of errors sometimes useful. Now I know that mods have worked on this computer in the past, but broke the OS and reinstalled, so I had to start from scratch. I went back to the instructions as a mod, and went through the suggestions of editing ini files that were marked as configuration files with the necessary text. One thing I didn't have was fallout. I should mention when I get an error and press Ok, continues nimm overlay and I can install mods and who else, they just do not work. So now I'm stuck with a mod manager installing mods that don't come into effect, and apparently I'm still missing the Fallout 4 ini file. Last edited by carcinoGeneticist ; April 21, afternoon.
